Meet Ms. Jamie

Hi! I'm Ms. Jamie

Welcome!

I am very excited to meet all of you and am blessed to be a part of THA and your children's growth and development. These past few months have been a blessing for me personally, as I truly enjoy what I do here at Tiny Hearts Academy.

Upon graduating High School, I continued my education at Kaplan College where I graduated and received my certification in the Medical field. After visiting numerous times here in Colorado while my younger sister was attending College, I fell in love with Colorado and decided to move near my sister. I started here at Tiny Hearts in late January and since then have developed a true passion for teaching and working with young children. Recently, I've taken classes to pursue my interests in this field. To be able to shape their young influential lives is very rewarding for me, which is why I'm furthering my education in the area of early childhood development.

I can't wait to watch your children grow and learn and enjoy having fun in a positive learning environment. I look forward to becoming an integral part of your children's lives, and hopefully just as much in your families too. Please swing by and say hi, I'd love to meet you and share your children's growth and creativity in my classroom. For now, have fun learning a little bit more about me!

Sincerely,
Ms. Jamie
